Valuable Real estate for Sale.

PURSUANT to the last Will and Testament of the late Col. RICHARD BROWN, deceased

NOW OFFER FOR SALE,

The Farm on which he resided,

On the Ohio River, in Holliday's Cove, in Brook County, Virginia.

This Estate consists of about 700 Acres of Land, 250 of which is a rich Island, the remainder principally second bottom and upland; that part of the upland which is not tillable, is covered with timber suitable for furnishing the Island and tillable part with fencing and building timber. There is between 150 and 200 acres cleared and under cultivation, a suitable proportion of which in good meadow land. The buildings consist in two log dwelling houses and a log barn with under story of stone. It is well supplied with very fine springs of good water.

The situation of this property on the Ohio River, five miles from the flourishing Town of Steubenville, and in the neighbourhood of several Merchant Mills, Iron Works, &c. renders it a desirable object to a person who would wish to farm extensively, as he would probably at all times find a good market at his door for the produce of his farm. A part of the purchase will be required in hand, and for the remainder a reasonable credit will be given.

who have had the pleasure of granting in two late Lotteries to different deserving people the following handsome fortunes, viz one of $30000, one of 25000, one of 20000, one of 15000, two of 10000 each, besides many of 5000, 2000, 1000, 700, 500 &c. The ticket which drew the above 25000 dollar prize, was, by S. & M. ALLEN sent to Pittsburgh and there repeatedly offered for sale, but as no person could be found in all this populous, wealthy, flourishing, and enlightned city possessing a disposition to purchase the 25000 or the trifling sum of 7 or 8 dols. the poor, despised and neglected ticket was compelled to undergo a retrogade transportation over the mountains to one of the Atlantic cities from whence it came; after which S. & M. Allen divided and sold it in shares, one share to a poor soldier who had lost a leg in the service of his Country.

It is presumed that the citizens of Pittsburgh and its vicinity on reflecting how easily they might have obtained that splendid prize, and that they can now as easily obtain 20000 or 10000 dols. that they will without delay repair to Cure for Coughs and Colds.

HAMILTONS' ELIXIR,

A SOVEREIGN remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthmas, sore throats, and approaching consumptions, and most disorders of the breast and lungs.

A SINGLE TRIAL

Will prove, that it restores the determination of the fluids to the surface of the body, and brings on the common healthful perspiration; that it dislodges and evacuates the tough viscid phlegm or mucus, strengthens the weakened vessels of the lungs, sheathes the acrimonious humor which irritates them, and finally discharges it. Thus striking at the root of the disorder, the symptoms are of course, effectually and permanently conquered; the reverse of common medicines, which weaken the constitution and gives strength to the disorder, for the sake of moderating for the present, some of its painful effects

To parents who have children afflicted with the WHOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is so perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small, that no difficulty arises in taking it.

TO H. LEE.

Being desirous to make public, for the good of others, the excellent quality of HAMILTONS' ELIXIR, prepared by the late Mr. Lee, I have sent you the following account of the benefit I have received from it, which I hope will induce others to give it a trial. In consequence of a bruise on the breast, received from a fall, my health grew bad, my breathing became very difficult, and frequently I have had to rise up in my bed, with all the horrors of immediate suffocation. Add to these a constant pain on my breast, and a cough, a great loss of strength and flesh, and you may conceive that my symptoms evidently indicated an approaching consumption. The advice of a most eminent physician was resorted to, and afterwards a second was called in, but without giving me any relief. Another physician who knew me and the circumstances of my case, advised me to give Hamiltons' Elixir a trial, saying he had used it in his practice, and always found it do much good. A bottle was procured, and I found relief before I had taken half of it. I continued to use it, and was soon strong enough to attend to business. On taking cold, some of my former symptoms return, but are always removed by a dose or two of the Elixir.

AN ECCENTRIC CHARACTER.

There is a character in common life, which I feel myself most earnestly inclined to depict, were it only for my own amusement; and I can assure you, without having particular persons in view, to hold up as the butt of my observations; a part, which I have ever held to be both unfriendly, unjust and ungenerous.

The character, that I would wish to delineate from the aggregate of real life, is no other than that of an old sea captain, become enfeebled with age and hardship, and now resolved in earnest, to pass the remainder of his life on shore.

We will suppose, that he has hitherto had no house nor home, except that which has so long floated with him on the bosom of the ocean. Having, then, quitted his vessel, and bid adieu to her forever, with tears in his eyes; when he first finds himself seriously and in good earnest a man of the shore, he looks about him with as much wildness and anxious concern, as a landsman would, who is left swimming for his life in the middle of the Atlantic.

After sauntering about a while in the city, taking especial care never to lose sight of the river, he at length agrees to board by the month, at some boarding-house, as near as possible to the wharves, that he may have a full view of the shipping, and an uninterrupted prospect, as well as the odoriferous smell of the docks and salt water.

His continuance here, however, is commonly of short duration. He has been so long accustomed to command, that he cannot endure to be controlled by the landlady, who already begins to take airs upon her, and treat him much in the same manner as she used to treat his second or third mate.

After shifting about from place to place, and having pestered every tavern and eating house in the city, to supply him with lobscouse, sea-pies, and pease porridge, he at length takes it into his head to look out for himself a wife. If you hear him describe the woman he would wish to make love to, it is in such a style and language as the following: 'I would choose to have her full-bowed and lean abaft—built with a handsome sheer, but not moonsided.—Breadth of beam is what I ever admired, as this gives her good bearings; her water ways ought to be well caulked, as small leaks there might do great damage,' &c. &c. After some time he marries some old seaman's widow, who, from former conversation, can understand his discourse, and from a similar cause can endure the smell of pitch, tar, rosin and turpentine; one or more of which substances he always has in moderate quantities sticking to his coat, breeches, waistcoat, or hair.

He now begins to think of building a house In this view, he purchases a lot as close as possible to the river side, and where the yard arms of the shipping may extend entirely over his roof. If the high tides come into his cellar, so much the better; this he calls dead water, and it pleases him much; as it sets all hands to work at the pumps, and gives them all the labour and trouble of a leaky ship in a gale of wind, without danger of going to the bottom. As to his carpenters and joiners, they soon conclude him to be half crazy, as he is perpetually talking to them of dead lights, instead of window shutters, bulk heads, instead of partitions—and spar decks, instead of roofs and upper floor.—Instead of lapping or grooving his weather boards, he insists upon square joints, which he obliges them to caulk with two or three threads of oakum, and pay over with hot pitch. If there be any butts, he has them secured with strong spikes or but-bolts, with a key and fore-lock, although a common twelve-penny nail or two, might answer the purpose effectually. If he keeps a shop it is sure to be in the ship-chandlery way, as he abominates the scent of all other merchandize; and indeed either the ship-chandlery business or a tavern, with boarding and lodging for sea-faring men, commonly finishes the career of his existence. Should he, by any accident, be obliged to remove into the country, he is unhappy, if not settled on the side of a river, where he may row out, and now and then take the latitude, by observing the sun's altitude with a Hadley's quadrant. If he travel in a passage boat, he obstinately refuses to turn in during the heaviest rain, although the hands belonging to the vessel be amply sufficient for every purpose upon deck. In a journey by land, he always lays by, if the wind blow hard the contrary way. Egg-nog is his favorite liquor in the morning—grog at eleven o'clock—and such wine as he can afford after dinner, which generally consists of salt pork and pease, with sea-biscuit instead of bread. When he finds himself near his end, the idea, that he is going to make a voyage upon discoveries, constantly recurs to his imagination; and he makes his epitaph accordingly.

EARTHQUAKE AND REMARKABLE PHENOMENA.

The French papers supply the following particulars in addition to those which we have formerly published:—

The earthquake which was felt at Barcelona on the 18th ult. at eleven o'clock in the morning, was likewise felt on the same day at Lerida, at Saragossa, and at Madrid. At Saragossa it was experienced some minutes before, and at Madrid some minutes after, the shock at Barcelona; but in the two latter cities much more strongly than in the former. At Saragossa the concussion was so violent as to throw down a painting in the chapel of the Virgin of the Pillar, during the performance of mass; the people were frightened, and fled the church. ——At Madrid the commotion was still more alarming, and was felt particularly at the royal manufactory of Porcelain at the Retiro, an edifice almost ruined during the war. There it overthrew a wall that killed two men. A violent shock was likewise felt at the Palace of Justice. ——The judges, who were sitting, deserted the hall, which trembled around them. It was believed to come from the west, and it is feared that Lisbon has suffered by this convulsion. News from that town are therefore expected with impatience. The weather at Barcelona continued clear and serene, and the air had recovered its usual temperature.

The journal of Barcelona publishes an article, dated Alcocir, in the province of Guadalaxara, the 28th of February, which details the following circumstances: "We have just witnessed a phenomenon seldom experienced in reigons distant from the coast. On the 20th of the month, the weather was rainy from the morning downwards, and the warmth was greater than is usual at the season. At three o'clock in the evening there was some lightning, accompanied with thunder, which soon ceased; but at half past six o'clock there suddenly arose a violent wind, like those which commonly precede in summer violent storms. There fell at the same time hail and rain with the thunder and lightning. The Heaven was brightened, and there only remained a black cloud, which increased instantly in an extraordinary manner, discharged from its skirts, about a quarter before seven o'clock, such a flash of lightning, with such a clap of thunder, that the people who were in the streets or in the country, fell to the earth frightened with the terrible noise, with the glare which struck their sight, and with the sulphurous smell which extended to the most retired recesses of their dwellings.

Some seconds afterwards there was another clap of thunder, not so strong as the former, and the cloud opening, discharged an immense globe of fire, which falling on the tower of the convent of Franciscans, overturned the iron cross on the summit, and set on fire the woodwork, a portion of which, in a state of combustion, having entered the church, destroyed a part of it: while the rest descending by the walls, kindled the different doors and windows of the convent, broke, tore up, and divided the cells, overturned and destroyed the furniture which they contained, and excited such terror in the monks, who were in the choir that they fell to the earth, and would perhaps have been choaked by the sulphurous vapour which surrounded them, had they not immediately received assistance. This explosion was followed by a heavy fall of hail, which lasted more than a minute: after which the heavens recovered their serenity.

An event of which we gave an account from a Pampeluna paper, was more disastrous than we then stated. By letters received we learn, that not only some villages have suffered by the earthquake, but that the whole town of Arnedillo, in Old Castile, has been buried under the fall of a neighboring mountain; that all the inhabitants have perished, and that nothing but the top of the belfry is seen above the ruins.

The intelligence that has arrived from the higher districts of the Grisons excites the most lively fears. Never were the snows in greater quantity; the tops of the houses are no longer seen, and some of the roofs have fallen in from the weight of the snow. Some villages, particularly in the valley of Tavesch, are entirely abandoned. A frightful avalanche has destoyed the village of Neuras in this valley. By reports from Dissentis, a little distant from that village eleven houses and mills, along with the inhabitants and stables, have been swallowed up. On the 28th, the rector and 24 other persons, wounded, were dug out of the rubbish alive. Many dead bodies were likewise found, and 28 persons are still missing. Avalanches have likewise caused frightful disasters in the valley of Dischmah. The passage of Mont St. Gothard is shut up.

Important—if true.

Richmond, (Vir.) May 13.

The following extract of a letter gives us a report of a most interesting character.—Apodaca, we believe, has been a long time in America—having passed to Mexico from the Island of Cuba, of which he had for some time been Governor. This report again awakens a gleam of hope, that Mexico may still atchieve her independence. The last intelligence indeed represented it as hopeless. Apodaca was then said to have extinguished the last spark of insurrection by taking the Patriot officers into his service. But may not this have been an ingenious finesse, to exeeute the object disclosed in the following extract? We shall wait for news from that quarter of the world with great anxiety. Enquirer.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman in New Orleans to his friend in this City, dated

"NEW ORLEANS, 7th April, 1817.

"The news of the day here is, that the Viceroy of Mexico, Apodaca, has declared himself Independent, and has an immense force arrayed to sustain his declaration. I have not been able to learn satisfactorily the source whence this intelligence is derived. The policy pursued by Apodaca, since his elevation to the Viceroyalty, has been so opposite to the general policy of the Mother Kingdom in relation to her Colonies, that we may readily suppose in him an ambition superior to subserviency to Spain, and a patriotism above the mere tranquilizing or subduing of a revolutionary spirit, to sink it again into the gloom of despotism, without security for the past, or hope for the future.

"If this news be true, the fate of New Spain is decided. A few days will, I suppose, decide upon the truth or falsehood of this intelligence."

Newton, (N. J.) May 12.

Last Monday two men were strangled to death at Hope in this county. The circumstances were as follows—one of them named Jackson went into a large cistern in order to clean it out, that had been filled with cider last fall but which during the winter had been drawn out and distilled; Jackson finding his strength failing called for assistance, Mr. Jno. Huling sprang into the cistern to help him, who soon feeling himself very unwell endeavoured to get out, and walked up a ladder placed in the cistern for that purpose, by the time he got his head above the cistern his strength was exhausted and he fell to the bottom with Mr Jackson, both of whom were suffocated in a few moments.—The cistern was empty excepting the dregs of the cider.

It would be an amusing and pleasing pursuit to follow the advance of the Spring from our southernmost territory northward. In this quarter, say latitude 39, the strawberry and the pea, the latter particularly are scarcely in blossom, A gentleman from the banks of the Roanoake, in North Carolina, informs us, that, before he left home a week ago, ripe stawberries and peas appeared on the table. In New-York, the Lombardy poplar, which had been in full foliage here for three weeks, has scarcely disclosed a leaf. In Charleston, it is probable the luxury of green peas has been enjoyed for ten days at least, whilst, in the remotest parts of the New-England States, the plant which bears the pea has scarcely peeped above the ground. The gradations and varieties of climate in our extensive country are much more marked by the progress of vegatation than by the temperature of the air. The rapidity introduced into our travelling by stages and steam boats is such, that in these days a citizen in Vermont or Main may leave snow on the ground at home, come here and find all nature verdant with exuberant foliage; travel half way to Charleston, dine on green peas and sup on strawberries; and, returning home, arrive there before a flower or a leaf is displayed. Nat. Int.

Parricide—The London Courier of the 2d ultimo, contains the trial, condemnation and execution of two brothers in Ireland, for the horrid crime of murdering their own father! Their names were George and John Greer. On the gallows they confessed the crime, prayed fervently to God for forgiveness, clasped hands and were launched into eternity.

M.—Leave Hager's-town every Monday, Wednesday and Friday, at four P. M.—Arrive at Baltimore and Washington city, (both early) same evening. This arrangement is made in order to accommodate travellers who wish to go to Baltimore or Washington city, by that route. The accommodations to Washington city, are very convenient to travellers. They can, by entering at M'Connelstown, arrive at Washington city—in one day and an half—and to Baltimore in the same time.—Gentlemen travelling on horse-back, who wish to take this way from M'Connelstown—can have their horses completely taken care of until their return. Travellers on this route, through so beautiful a country—will find every thing arranged to their satisfaction.

The stages built upon the most improved principle, are easy and commodious—the drivers sober, obliging and attentive—and horses well selected for their duty—uncommonly fine. The proprietors will pledge themselves that the public shall be fully accommodated. All baggage—parcels, &c. by the above stages—(let it be understood)—are at the risk of the owners.

PITTSBURGH.

TUESDAY, MAY 27, 1817.

DREADFUL ACCIDENT.

By Saturday's mail, intelligence was received of a most distressing nature, respecting the "Oliver Evans" steam boat. A letter from a gentleman in Lexington, dated the 19th instant, mentions, that on the arrival of the Washington, steam boat, at Natchez, the Oliver Evans was there, and in an attempt to out-run the Washington, the steam was raised to such an unmanageable pitch as burst her boiler.—The explosion was terrible. Four persons were instantly launched into eternity, and six others so dreadfully mangled, that no hopes are entertained of their recovery.

OLIVER WOLCOTT, the new governor of Connecticut, took the oath of office at the state house in Hartford, on the 12th inst. in the presence of the two branches of the legislature, and a numerous collection of citizens.

It is a striking feature (says the Baltimore Gazette,) in governor Wolcott's speech, delivered on the occasion, that he recommends to the state, the same system of taxation, which, twenty years since in federal times, was recommended by him in a report to congress, and so successfully adopted. Other parts of the speech prove that the same sentiments prevail in his mind which he entertained when one of the federal administration; when he acted, as he says, "under the guidance of illustrious men who were among the founders of our nation." "I cannot omit," says he, "to express the reverence I entertain for those sages, whom no artifices could deceive, no temptations seduce, no dangers intimidate." With such sentiments, can it be doubted that the governor of Connecticut is still a federalist?

COMMUNICATED.

Washington College, May 19th, 1817.

The Trustees of this College, believing that the duties of Principal of the College, united as heretofore with those of Pastor of the Congregation, were too arduous for any one person, and that the interests of the College would be better promoted by a different arrangement, at their last meeting adopted the subjoined resolutions.

By which it will appear that the Rev. Andrew Wylie, late President of Jefferson College, has been appointed Principal of this College.

The Board are happy to announce to the public that Mr. Wylie has accepted of this appointment, and will enter upon the duties thereof on the first Monday in June, at which time the Summer session will commence.

In placing Mr. Wylie at the head of this College, the Board were well satisfied that he possesses in an eminent degree, all those qualifications which are necessary for fulfilling the duties of that high station with advantage to the public and honor to himself.

Without going into a minute detail of the advantages of this arrangement, it will be sufficient generally to observe, that by it, provision is made for the whole and undivided attention of the Principal to the duties of the College. This is an object respecting which it is presumed most if not all, at home as well as abroad, will concur.

Besides all the customary and higher branches of education usually taught in Colleges, it will be a part of the plan or system of the Principal, to deliver in the College Hall, to the Students exclusively, a regular system of theological lectures or sermons, every Sunday.

Arrangements were made last fall for enlarging the present College buildings, so as to make them more commodious and adequate to the great purposes of such an institution. These arrangements are now in a considerable state of forwardness, and the Trustees will proceed with all possible dispatch, so that the buildings may be completed without delay. In the mean time comfortable and decent boarding may be had in private families, on moderate terms as heretofore.

Adopted by the Board and ordered to be printed.

Washington College, April 30th, 1817.

Resolved that it is expedient to separate the duties of the Principal of the College from those of the Pastor of the Congregation, so that the College may have and enjoy the undivided attention of the Principal to the duties of the College: And said duties are hereby declared to be separated for the purpose aforesaid.

Whereas the Rev. Mathew Brown has officially announced to this Board his determination to relinquish his charge as Principal of the College, and to adhere to the Congregation if a separation of the aforesaid duties should be declared by this Board; and whereas the Rev. Andrew Wylie has resigned his situation as Principal of the College of Jefferson, and signified his disposition to accept of the office of Principal of this College and to give his whole and undivided attention to the duties thereof—Therefore resolved, that the said Andrew Wylie be and he is hereby appointed by this Board Principal of this College.

Adopted by the Board.

P. S. Printers friendly to literature in this and the adjacent states, are respectfully requested to insert the above.

SUMMARY.

One of the singularities worth remarking, of the present times, is this, that Mirza, the Persian ambassador at the court of St. Petersburg, cannot converse with the Emperor Alexander, nor the Emperor with him, in any other language than the English! The Emperor does not understand the Persian, nor the ambassador Russian.

Captain Price, at New-York from Norfolk, states, that the shock of the blowing up of the Patriot privateer in the bay, was so great as to break the windows at Wilaughby Point, three miles distant!

The chymists of Paris have discovered, that the juice of tobacco, can be extracted, and combined with the dried leaves of roses, or any other flower, & affords cigars of a much finer flavour, than the best Spanish ones, manufactured with the leaves of tobacco.

We learn from Paris dates to the 14th of April that the American squadron were bound to Tangiers, and that the differences between the United States and the court of Naples still remained unsettled.

A fire at Constantinople, on the 18th of Feb. last, had destroyed 300 houses—another fire broke out on the 23d, which also consumed a great many buildings.

It is said Mr. West's grand picture for the Pennsylvania Hospital, will be finished by the time of Mr. Sergeant's return from Paris to London, and will be committed to his care, to bring to the United States.

Lt. Kotzebue, son of the dramatic poet of that name, has made a voyage round the world, in the service of Russia, & discovered several new Islands, which he has named Romanzow's, Speridow's, Krusenterp's, Kieulusow's, and Suwarrow's, Islands.

The son of Gustavus, who was put aside to make room for Bernadotte, during the Bonapartean reign, is with his cousin the King of Wurtemburgh; he is said to be an accomplished young man and being a nephew of the Emperor Alexander, it is probable that such a course may be pursued, as shall place him on the the throne of Sweden, instead of a Frenchman. The late disturbances at Stockholm, have this object, probably in view.

The British government, it is said, have prohibited Lord Cochrane from proceeding to South America, in a ship of the force which he lately purchased for that purpose.

On the 11th of April, an exhibition of the sale of a wife took place at Dartmouth, Eng. A brute of a fellow dragged his wife to the publick quay for sale. She had been married about a twelve month, is not yet twenty, and could scarcely be sustained from fainting as her unworthy husband dragged her along. She was purchased for two guineas by her first sweetheart.

Some of the late Paris papers contain accounts of important improvements in Lythography. It furnishes the power of multiplying to an indefinite extent, copies of any writing or painting, and in a more exact and certain manner than by printing or engraving. It is said to have been introduced into the office of Foreign Relations in Russia, in consequence of which a number of copying clerks were discharged.

IMPORTANCE OF CHEMISTRY.

A case of murder, supposed to have been perpetrated as lord Bacon says, by empoinsonment, has been tried in England. The prisoner, Donnall, was the son-in-law of the deceased Mrs. Downing. This lady, while drinking tea at the house of her son-in-law, was twice afflicted with a violent complaint, which at the last time put an end to her existence. The prisoner was a physician, and handed the cup supposed to contain the poison; his motive for the perpetration of such an atrocious act, would have been the fortune that he would have enjoyed by the death of his mother in-law. The body was opened, and the contents of the stomach subjected to chemical analysis. The physician who performed this operation, declared upon oath that he had detected arsenic. The tests which he had applied, he stated to be these—first, sulphate of copper, with a small quantity of carbonate of pot ash, which when applied to the stomach of the deceased, the precipitate was green; he had next used nitral of silver, in the same way, and the precipitate was yellow, both of which he declared indicated the presence of arsenic. Another physician declared upon oath, that these proofs of the appearance of arsenic, were not conclusive; that the only infallible mode of detecting arsenic, was by sublimation. He had tried the same tests made by the other physician, on a decoction of onions, and found both that green and yellow precipitate, supposed by the other physician to denote the appearance of arsenic. Several other physicians testified to the same fact, and the prisoner was acquitted, because precipitates of green and yellow were discovered in a solution of onions, for the deceased had eaten onions on the day when she died. Balt. Tel.

From the Independent Balance.

On Peter Porcupine's arrival in England, he published what he termed his last will, in which he devised a certain sum to erect a gallows, whereon to hang every Englishman, Scotch or Irishman, who might emigrate to America; which he pleased to designate as the "land of fools, knaves and rascals, who ought to be ashamed to look each other in the face." Ought not his executor, William Cobbett, recently arrived at New York, to be the first to experience the generous and praise worthy objects of the devisor.

We regret to learn, by a Gentleman who came passenger in the Steam-Boat yesterday, that an Epidemic has prevailed for some time past in the town of Manchester, opposite to Richmond, which has carried off in the space of 6 weeks, upwards of one hundred and thirty persons, chiefly negroes—a mortality heretofore unexampled in that place, the population of which we believe, does not exceed 500—What renders this visitation the more painful, is, that among the number who have fallen victims are many of its oldest and most respectable inhabitants.—Norfolk Herald.

LONDON APRIL 12.

It is said that Ministers have received and entertained a proposition from the King of Spain, to become a Mediator between him and the Independent Provinces of South America, in return for which his Majesty offers us a limited commerce with certain ports on the coast. Report adds, that Sir George Cockburn is to command a squadron destined for the coast of South America for that purpose; and that preparations are already making to carry it into effect. If ministers have really determined upon this course, the result may be easily anticipated. Mr. Croker will be soon again upon his war salary.

Hooping cough.

For the prevention and cure of Bilious and Malignant Fevers.

The proprietor has every possible reason tath an result from extensive experience, for believe ing that a dose of these pills, taken once in every two weeks, during the prevalence of our bilious fevers prove an infallible preventative; and further, that in the earlier stages of those dis- a their use will very generally succeed in restoring healt , and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—o restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds wh ch are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance—they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

In sickly times or places, a dose should be taken every fortnight, and if there is reason to apprehend personal danger, it may be taken once a week.

They have been found remarkably efficacious n preventing and curing diso ders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

HAMILTON'S
Worm Destroying Lozenges.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of a similar title so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary, a particular excellence of this remedy is, its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent and is so mild in its operation, that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady, or the tenderest infant of a week old, should no worms exist in the body; but will, without pain or griping, cleanse the stomach or bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms, and many other fatal disorders.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent the "vomiting and purging of children," a dreadful disorder which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and the restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaints Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness, having a pleasing appearance and an agreeable taste.

Loss of Appetite
Impurity of the Blood
Hysterical Affections
Inward Weaknesses
Violent Cramps in the stomach and back
Indigestion
Melancholy
Gout in the stomach
Pains in the Limbs
Relaxations, &c

The principal operation of this remedy is in the stomach, restoring the digestive powers, and sending forth from that organ new health and vigor into every part of the system; it enriches and purifies the blood without inflaming it; braces, without stimulating too violently, the nervous system; strengthens the secretory vessels, and the general habit, brings back the muscular fibres to their natural and healthy tone; and restores that nutrition which immoderate evacuations had destroyed, and whose loss had thrown the whole frame into langour and debility.

HAMILTON'S
Essence & Extract of Mustard,

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, asthmatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness. white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, &c,
